

Building lifesaving skills, one batch at a time! 🙌

The 1st Batch of the "Basics of Airway Resuscitation Course" for Nursing Officers (Session 2026–27) was successfully conducted on 30th June 2026 at the Centre for Experiential Learning, AIIMS Guwahati.

Organized jointly by the Department of Anesthesiology, Critical Care and Pain Medicine and the College of Nursing, AIIMS Guwahati, the programme continues its commitment to strengthening airway management and resuscitation competencies among nursing professionals. During Session 2025–26, more than 200 Nursing Officers were successfully trained through this initiative.

The course is being conducted under the guidance of Prof. (Dr.) Ashok Puranik, Executive Director, AIIMS Guwahati, with Prof. (Dr.) Habib Md Reazaul Karim, Additional Professor & Head, Department of Anesthesiology, Critical Care and Pain Medicine, serving as Course Coordinator, and Prof. (Dr.) Unmona Borgohain Saikia, Principal, College of Nursing, providing academic leadership.

The training is delivered by the dedicated faculty members of the Department of Anesthesiology, the College of Nursing, and experienced Nursing Officers of AIIMS Guwahati, reflecting a collaborative, multidisciplinary approach to excellence in patient care.

Empowering healthcare professionals with lifesaving skills for safer patient outcomes.
